INTRODUCTION

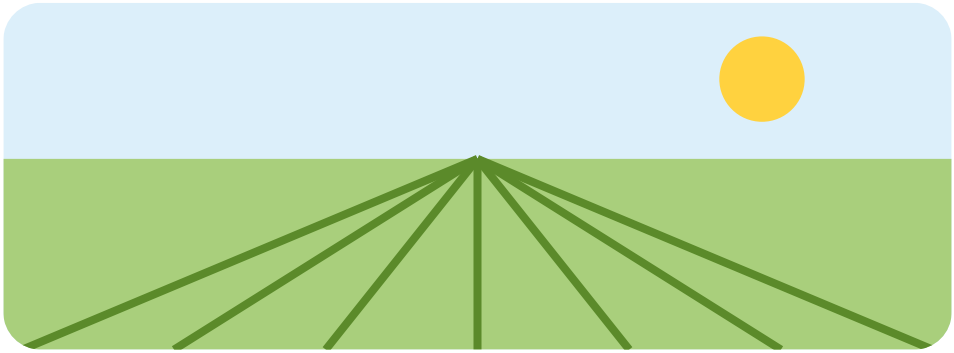

Welcome to Sogliano Cavour

Sogliano Cavour is a small town in the province of Lecce, in the heart of Salento. Its name joins that of the ancient village with the memory of Camillo Benso di Cavour, added in the 19th century.

It is a country town and a close-knit community, where music, religious traditions and rural life intertwine, and where the brass band tradition dates back to 1929.

This booklet tells the story of the town and presents Futuro in corso!, the career guidance lab dedicated to music, crafts, agriculture, wellbeing, business and self-employment.

ARCHITECTURE

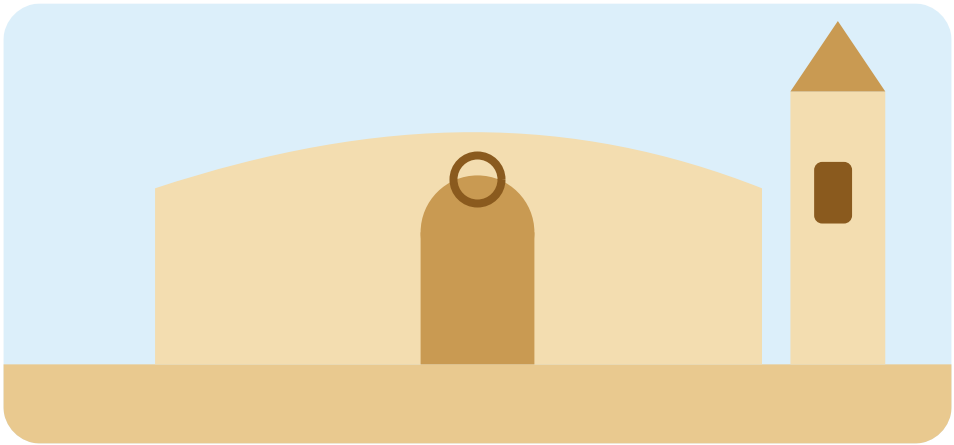

The Mother Church of San Lorenzo

The town's main religious landmark is the Mother Church of San Lorenzo Martire (St Lawrence the Martyr), a parish of the Archdiocese of Otranto, which faces the churchyard where concerts and celebrations take place.

Built in the 15th century, it was enlarged in the mid-19th century with side aisles, a transept, an apse and a dome. The façade, neoclassical in style, is clean and linear, with a single portal and a triangular pediment; next to it stands the square-based bell tower.

Inside: the dome frescoed with angels carrying the saint's symbols, the Baroque high altar in Lecce stone, an ancient floor mosaic in the left aisle, the 18th-century pipe organ and the polychrome wooden statue of San Lorenzo.

San Lorenzo is the patron saint of the town: his feast is celebrated on 10 August.

TRADITIONS

Songs and rites of the Passion

During Lent and Easter the town relives the tradition of the Canti di Passione (Passion songs) and of the Passion of Christ ("I Passiùna tu Cristù", the song of the Passion in the Griko language): a journey through devotion and the folk culture of Salento.

On the churchyard of the Mother Church the Sogliano Cavour band, singers, choirs and the community gather, in one stage of the Canti di Passione festival. The Pro Loco also organises the representation of the Passion of Christ in the Mother Church of San Lorenzo Martire.

The events take place every year during Lent and Easter.

MUSIC

The “Santa Cecilia” band and music

The band is one of the town’s souls. The first band of Sogliano Cavour was founded in 1929 on the initiative of the parish priest, don Giuseppe De Pascalis; re-established in the 1980s, it is today the Gran Complesso Bandistico “Santa Cecilia” Città di Sogliano Cavour, which has won awards at band gatherings since 1931.

The repertoire ranges from symphonic music to opera arrangements, from light music to marches: the banda da giro (touring band) is a cultural tradition typical of Puglia. Every year the traditional concert in honour of Santa Cecilia, patron saint of musicians, is held, and the band also performs at civic and religious occasions in the town.

The music of Sogliano also looks to jazz: since 2006 the Locomotive Jazz Festival was born here, now spread across Salento, and in its evenings in Sogliano it often meets the band.

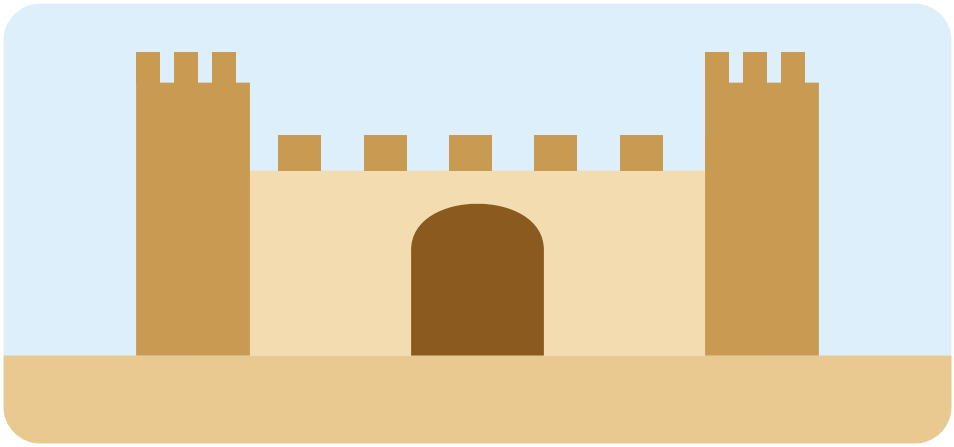

TERRITORY

Old town and countryside

The old town has an oval layout: at the end of the 15th century it was given walls, and its streets still converge on the Castle, later the Baronial Palace, in Largo Castello.

In the 17th century the Augustinian Monastery was built, linked to the history of the Mother Church.

Around the town stretches the landscape of Salento's interior, long devoted mainly to agriculture, about 25 km from Lecce. It is the second smallest municipality in the province by area.
